Food Stations are a great option for a mingling reception, with variety of foods and a casual elegance for you and your guests. There are many factors which make stations receptions different than buffets. With a station reception, guests dining tables do not have formal place settings; rather, small plates, and cutlery are available at each station. There is not a specific time to release guests to the stations, as guests can begin when they choose, after stations open. Stations typically stay open for about 1.5 hours, giving guests time to dine at their own pace, while visiting with other guests throughout the room.

All stations receptions offering 3 or more stations may add the dipping station for 3.00. We will work with you to create the perfect station selections for your special event! (Minimum 25 ppl for stations)
